

Guest Editor's Desk

Prof. Dhanraj T. Dhangar,
President, International Research Fellows Association
Asst. Prof. Marathi,
M. S. G. College, Malegaon Camp,
Nashik [M.S.] India.

Dear Readers,
Hellow & Namaste!

Now you are reading 'Research Journey's 2nd Issue'. We had started this journal before three months and we received great respect with great response to this journal. Yours all type of research which is original and having quality are always welcome to publish in the journals. We have received many phone calls regarding the like comments on previous issue, for this, all the credit goes to the researchers first, then to our peer reviewer and our editorial board.

This issue is including 10 different articles. First article of Dr. Kalpana Patil, She has researched on 'Feminism in Nine Decade's Adivasi (Aborigine) Novels'. She has specially focussed on Hindi novels. She says that the novel of 21st century has centered the social distress. These novels focussed on social problems. Hindi Adivasi novel is the different stream in Hindi Literature. We can found the feminist theory in these novels also. Dr. Kalpana Patil has compared the Adivasi women as sunbeams. The second article is on 'Applied Hindi and Midia' written by Prof. Manoj Mahajan. He searched the reasons of use of applied language in midia instead of litarary language. Third Research Paper is on 'Changing Image of Indian Women' written by Mr. Gajanan Wankhede. He has to compare ancient Indian women and the women in todays India. He concluded that todays Indian women has different image than the ancient age. She has become more powerfull due to statutory right. But there has the different types of problems like rape, abortion, dowry system and so on before these todays' women. Dr. Sulochana Patil has researched on 'A historical Bhusawal Bomb Case' in pre independant India. She has proved the significant participation of khandesh region in Indian Freedom Movement. Prof. B. M. Sonawane is belonged to Economic Department. He has focused on 'Food Security and Poverty in India'.

He has stressed in his conclusion of the research paper to need of efficient implementation of government's schemes regarding food security. Prof. Jyoti Chaudhari has focussed on 'The Place of Indian Women in Family and Society. She says that the boastings of human rights are meaningless as long as the birth of daughter will not celebrated as birth of son. Prof. Rajani Patil and Prof. Namdev Koli have jointly researched on Co-Relations between Literatures, Society and Culture. Dr. C. J. Shewale has done the comparative study of achievement Motivations in Muslim and Non-Muslim Families. As per his sampling he concluded that Non-Muslim students are more achievement oriented than Muslim students. Those students who are coming from nuclear family are high motivated in their achievement than the joint families. Male students are high motivated in their achievement than females. He has given limitations as well as suggestions and recommendations. Dr. Vijay Surve and Miss Usha Watane have jointly presented their paper on 'Inclusive Growth and XII – Five Year Plan'. This is one of the best papers which are commented on the different government schemes like Sarva Shiksha Abhiyaan, National Health Scheme and Mahatma Gandhi Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme etc. Paper has given importance to 'inclusive growth' in our planning process. Dr. P. M. Bhagde has researched on challenges before agriculture sector. Agricultural sector is playing very important role in economic development of India. Dr. Bhagde has Hilighted the major challenges before the agriculture sector. Now the issue is before you. Our peer referees and hardworking editors have touched the content gently. The pattern and perspective is that of the respective authors alone, and they are responsible for the views and versions in their papers.

We are here, to make the 'Research Journey' the best among equals. Your academic co-operation and constructive vulluable suggestion(s) - solicited.

Happy reading!

- Guest Editor